GlobalMindED allows attendees to explore new ideas, make global connections, create networks of supportive people and leave with actionable steps. The following opportunities will help promote these outcomes:

- Jeffersonian Lunch: Creating solutions for world-wide problems by collaborating with others from different perspectives, including students.

- Idea Cafe: Enjoy coffee with innovators who can explain how they launched their ideas and how they can support your work.

- Lunch to honor first generation college students followed by meet and greet.

- Internship / Career fair for first and other generation college students: meet technology and media companies who seek their talents.

- Network with International Educators: Connect with other educators and create a support group that spans the world.

Mackenzie Fallt, GlobalMindED secretary, a Minnesota native, moved to Colorado in 2010 to attend the University of Denver. She recently graduated with honors in 2014 with a Bachelor’s in International Studies, Psychology, and English. Recognizing the importance of education in the lives of individuals around the world, Mackenzie realized her passion for international issues and human development. She was drawn to working with GlobalMindED in their drive to improve education. She is currently, an admissions advisor at DU preparing for her masters degree in international relations this fall.
Our Board

Carol Carter was a VP in corporate America before starting Lifebound and Lifebound Coaching. As an author and co-author of more than 30+ books on student and career success, Carol is an international speaker and expert in entrepreneurship, real world skills, need, creativity, innovation, and risk. She has been a guest in more than fifty countries.

Our Board

Jason Owens, President of GlobalMindED, was an El Pomar Foundation fellow following his graduation from Colorado College with a degree in history. He earned a masters degree in public administration from the University of Pennsylvania, where he was an associate consultant with the Fels Research and Consulting Group. Jason is currently the Education Coordinator of Children’s Hospital Colorado.

Bena Kallick, member at large of GlobalMindED, is a private consultant providing services to school districts, state departments of education, professional organizations, and public agencies throughout the world. Bena received her doctorate in educational evaluation from Union Graduate School. She created a children’s museum based on problem solving and invention. Additionally, she is the co-founder of Performance Pathways, a company dedicated to providing easy-to-use software that helps integrate and make sense of data from curriculum, instruction, and assessment.

Remington Green, the VP of Global Minded is the CEO and co-founder of Organic People. He formed Organic People in 2000 to bring together his extensive knowledge of Information Technology with his success in growing businesses. He is currently the president of the Rocky Mountain chapter of the National Association of Computer Consulting Businesses and was chosen as part of MIT Birthing Of Giants program. He volunteers as an advisor to the Denver Housing Authority managing low-income housing initiatives which helps low income students prepare for life beyond high school. He holds an MBA from Denver University with an emphasis in Finance.
