

NEWS RELEASE

Contact: Jon Pushkin, APR
Pushkin Public Relations
303-733-3441
jon@pushkinpr.com

Carol Carter Named 2017 Apex Award Winner

Colorado Technology Association awards honor the leaders making an impact on Colorado's technology talent pipeline

(DENVER, CO – November 9, 2017) — Carol Carter, president and founder of GlobalMindED, was named Talent Champion of the Year at the 2017 Colorado Technology Association Apex Awards dinner at the Seawell Ballroom in Denver on November 8. The Apex awards honor the leaders and innovators who are shaping the future of the technology industry in Colorado.

The Apex Awards highlight companies and individuals in 12 different categories. The Talent Champion category recognizes individuals who make a measurable impact on the technology talent pipeline in Colorado. Nominees must actively lead and support initiatives that help to build a strong local pipeline of qualified workers for technology companies and IT departments across the state. The champion must also demonstrate efforts to promote a work environment free from bias and discrimination, and create opportunities to promote diversity, respect and inclusiveness.

"I'm honored to receive this recognition for the important work we do at GlobalMindED to provide employers with a diverse talent pipeline and create better employment opportunities for first generation to college students and the underserved populations they represent," said Carter. "

Carol Carter is a national and international student success author and speaker. She is the author of 11 books for students in grades 5-12, and her Keys to Success series is used by more than 200,000 college freshmen each year throughout the U.S., Canada, and China. For the last twelve years, Carter has been president of LifeBound, a student success company that publishes books and conducts trainings in academic coaching skills for college faculty and K-12 administrators, counselors, teachers, and parents. Prior to that, she was an executive at Pearson Education for 17 years.

Most recently, Carol is the founder of GlobalMindED, a non-profit organization that holds an annual conference convening leaders in education, government, business, and social enterprise committed to making a world of difference through creating a capable, diverse talent pipeline. Carol's business experience and her international work provide a unique perspective on how schools and businesses can prepare students to thrive in college and career.

About GlobalMindEd

GlobalMindED is an educational and research non-profit committed to creating a capable, diverse talent pipeline for first-generation-to-college, at-risk and low-income students and job seekers. GlobalMindED aims to improve access and equity in K-12 and higher education through improved graduation rates and sustainable careers. Learn more at www.globalminded.org.

###