Leaving COVID Behind
A Technology-Based Approach for Closing Persistent Proficiency Gaps in Core Skills, and Putting Every Student on a Path to College and Career Success

SCENARIO
As we leave the pandemic behind, we are seeing nationwide trends of uneven pandemic recovery. Despite some gains, overall proficiency levels remain below 50%, especially among marginalized groups like students of color, English-language learners, those with disabilities, and low-income students.

OPPORTUNITY
Mitchell High School in Colorado Springs has a playbook to share for improving proficiency and student outcomes. In partnership with NROC, Mitchell High School defied pandemic trends, significantly improving student readiness for college by implementing EdReady.

Join a group of education leaders for the opportunity to collaborate on solving and overcoming student opportunity gaps. Led by key leaders from The NROC Project and Mitchell High School, together we’ll chart a course for future initiatives and collaboration opportunities, leveraging our collective expertise to empower students and narrow opportunity gaps in schools and districts across the country.

One-Day Introduction to Inclusive Coaching

Building Academic, Personal, Practical, and Professional Skills

Learn effective coaching tools and practices that help students overcome setbacks, navigate challenges, and thrive.

Students are navigating a time of extreme uncertainty, striving to cope with the pandemic and the crisis of entrenched racism while managing partially- or fully-online college coursework. Coaching strategies can support students’ functioning and accountability as they face financial, social/emotional, and academic issues in this time.

This one-day, targeted edition of LifeBound coaching training will give you coaching tools to help you meet students where they are right now and help them grow to their full potential.

Coaching strategies can help students:
- build academic, personal, practical, and professional skills,
- transition more effectively to college,
- connect more deeply with faculty, staff, and resources,
- build accountability and self management,
- navigate the myriad of issues at this time,
- find fulfillment in school, work, and personal life.
